Press Comment Richards Festival Band

Little could be said here that would enhance the enviable reputation of Richards Festival Band. It is probably the finest organization of its kind in the world. Their rendition of "Oberon" alone ranks them with the best traveling bands in the country. It was an eye-opener to our local musicians. Much of their success is, of course, due to their director. Professor Richards, while a strict disciplinarian, is an affable and most unpretending courteous gentleman to meet in private and it was a pleasure to hear him so enthusiastically spoken of by his men.—Musical Enterprise, Candem, N. J.

Richards Festival Band, it may be added, ranks as one of the best, if not the very best organizations of its kind in the world, having only two or three serious rivals. Mr. Richards fame both as a composer and conductor is so well known among the musicians of the United States and Canada that any comment on it would be superfluous. The band rendition of such masterpieces as Liszt's Symphonic Poem, Mazeppa, Rubenstein's Overture Fantasia, "Triumphale", Chopin's Moorish Suite, The Courts of Grenada or "1812" leave little or nothing to be desired by the most critical and from such sublime heights of harmony they can turn to the "foxiest" fox trot ever conceived. The vocal numbers were in the same high plane as the band.—Dubuque Telegraph—Herald.

One of the very best that ever visited Lowell. Director Richards won unstinted praise for the well arranged program.—Lowell Sun.

We were amazingly surprised at the excellent rendition of these numbers especially the Atlantic Suite, as it revealed the ability of each section of the band.—Musical Messenger, Cincinnati.

Richards and his magnificent concert band received frequent encores. This musical organization is in a class by itself as regards artistic work.—News, Lima, Ohio.

The program was nearly doubled by the encores demanded by the audience and for these marches and popular numbers were given with a "pep" and spirit that caught the instant approval of everyone.—Rockford Register-Gazette.

Conductor Richards and his band never fail to receive splendid comments. Richards has a band that is good and the band has a band-master who is clever. What a combination!—Billboard.
